EDITORS NOTE

It was a sexy summer! And as it Fades into Fall we wanted to bring you some of the hottest glimpses that Summer 2016 bestowed on the VOLO world.

To start with I would like to congratulate Peter Marosi on his much deserved win in the hotly contested VOLO Photography Awards for Summer 2016. Peter who is no stranger to VOLO created a relaxed and simple photoset for the contest which featured his muse (and wife) Barbara... And it was just Perfect. Our fans thought so, when they voted it into the top 5, and we were sure of it when we picked the winner.

Moving on this issue. Summer is hot, so please don't be offended if we did push the boundaries of 'traditional' nude art photography a bit in this issue. VOLO has a very specific aesthetic and we have mastered the subtle lines where erotica meets art. Some of the sets in this issue do fall in that category, specially the one by Alexander Prischepov of Russia which truly showcases the raw beauty and naughtiness that is intrinsically VOLO.

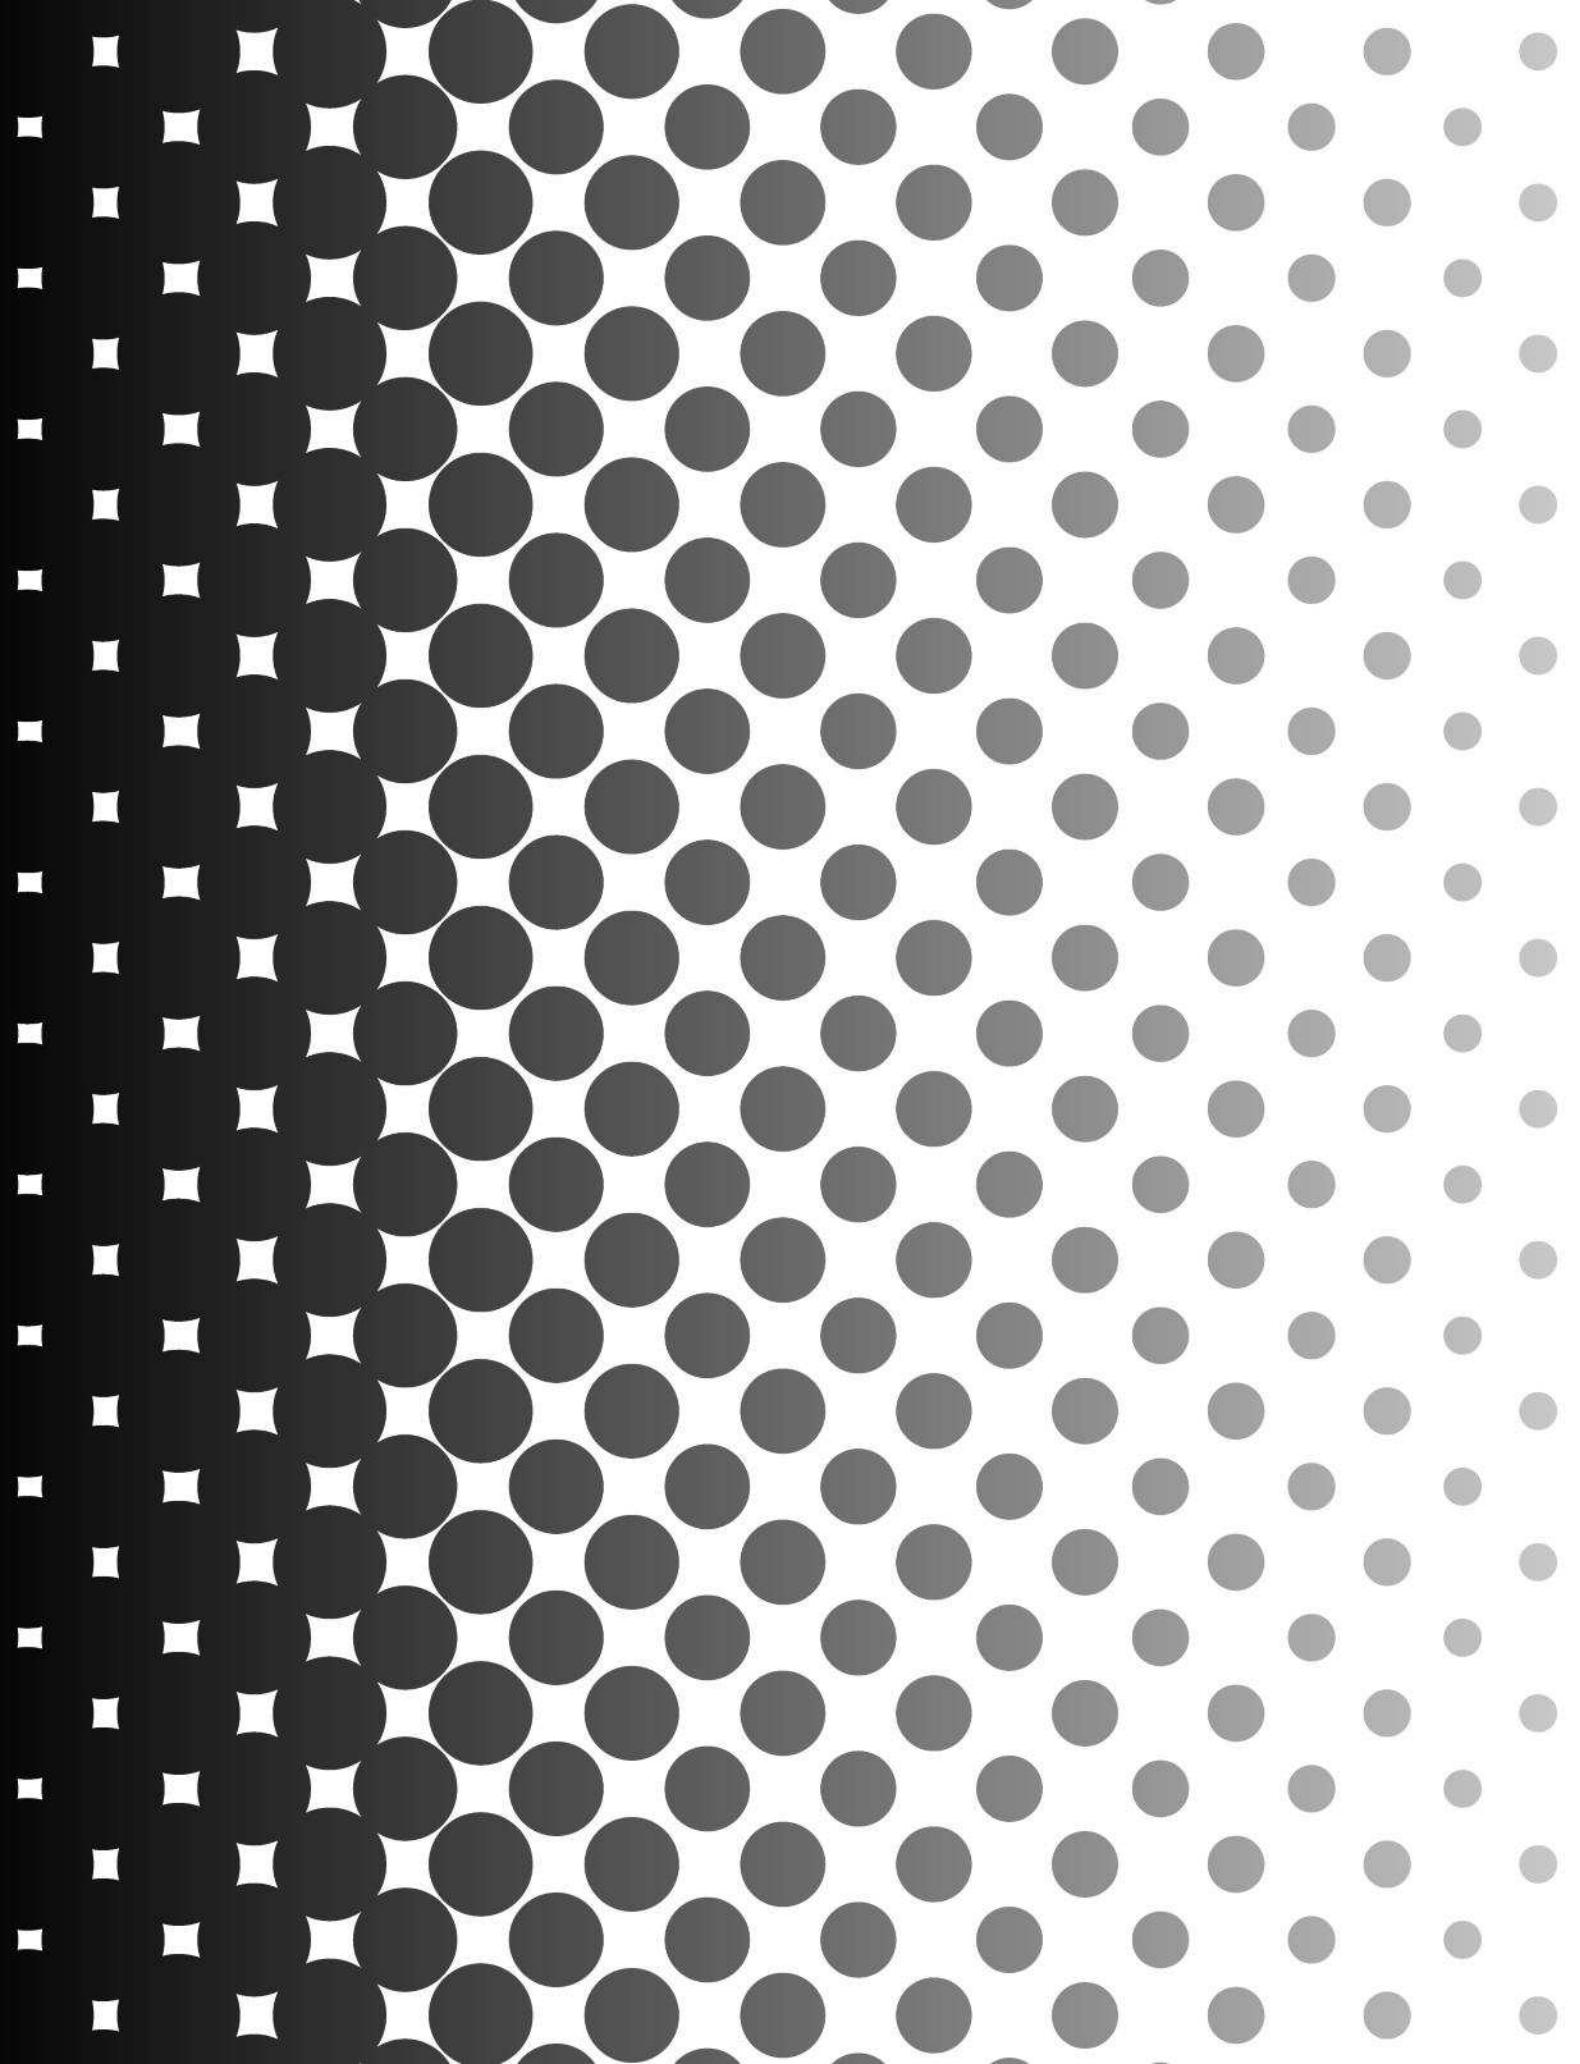

Our cover set is shot by first time VOLO photographer Cassandra Keyes. Cassandra teams up with the sheer perfection of cover model Ashleigh Macauliffe to create a dreamy set in sultry Bali.

There are 16 VOLO goddesses featured in 9 photo stories in this issue... So stop reading and go look :)

"This shoot of Ashleigh was done in beautiful tropical Bali. For this shoot I really wanted to capture the raw beauty of both Ashleigh and her surroundings, so we shot all the pics without makeup and wet hair as if she belongs there in the dewy jungle setting. I wanted to capture the drama in Ashleigh's body language and expression. I think this shoot belongs in Volo because its sensual, fresh, erotic and evokes emotion when looking at it...breathtaking!"

"I was born and raised on cattle properties in Queensland, Australia. I loved growing up there and couldn't imagine it any other way. The best part about living in the country was all the different types of animals I got to have not just cats and dogs but all the animals you could only dream of having in the city. I had the freedom to do as I pleased and being home schooled was just the icing on top!"

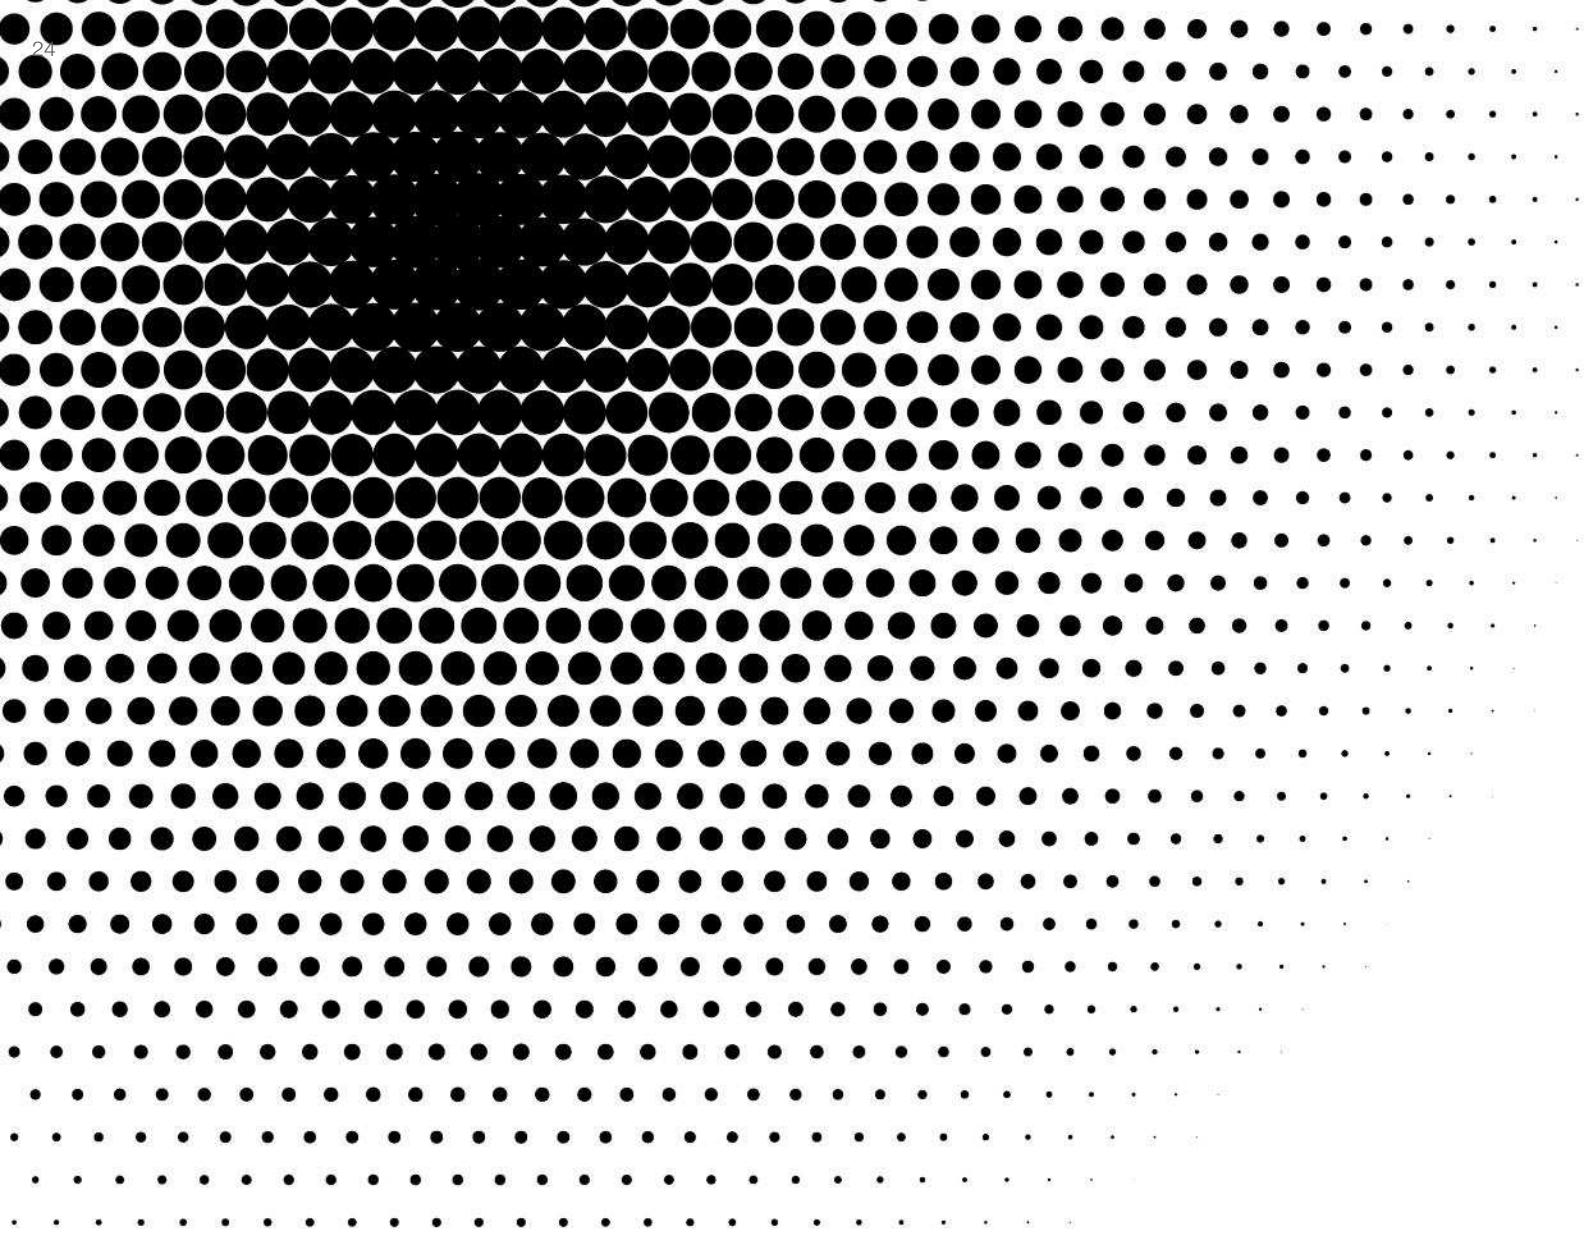

Im definitely a gym junkie which is great because I love my food more - doughnuts, pizza and chocolate defiantly my kryptonite!! I'm lucky that I am a personal trainer and know when to whip myself into shape. I love training its my escape and makes me focus on the day ahead but I also get a great butt out of it so definitely worth the pain.

I have always wanted to do modelling I loved watching Victoria Secret Angels but I also loved looking at the women in men's magazines especially Playboy! There was something about those icon women in the magazines and on stage that made me want to be just like them.

After watching previous competitions at local nightclubs I thought it was the perfect way to make my mark in the world of modeling. I was so eager to enter the next competition so I jumped at the chance and although I didn't place I was hooked – the stage, the lights, and the cameras I was in my element! After a few years of placing at national & international competitions I decided to change stages and put my focus on the world of "Bikini Bodybuilding" – turns out I was a natural placing 2nd in Bikini Diva with the help of my coach."

"Hi VOLO world, I'm an Australasian photographic artist and digital media producer currently based in Bali, Indonesia. I have a profound interest in the power of human sexuality and love to work with the feminine form as a medium to explore this. I have worked on both sides of the lens and use this experience as the touchstone for my fusion style of playful yet edgy glamour photography.

I have followed VOLO since the beginning as I love the edgy style it has pushed which is a welcome contrast to the constrictions of commercial photography. It's great to do commissioned pieces but sometimes it's nice to put that all aside and concentrate on creating something special which is what I hope to do here."

"I am a photographer and educator based out of San Jose, California. My primary focus is using the human body as art. I express this in many forms but my goal is to use the body to mimic the shapes and curves that are found in nature.

They might be the gentle slope of a sand dune, a curve of a rock, or the rolling hills of a mountain range. I tend towards abstracting the body shapes so the viewer isn't always sure at first glance if the image contains a body or not."

INFINITE NAUGHTINESS!

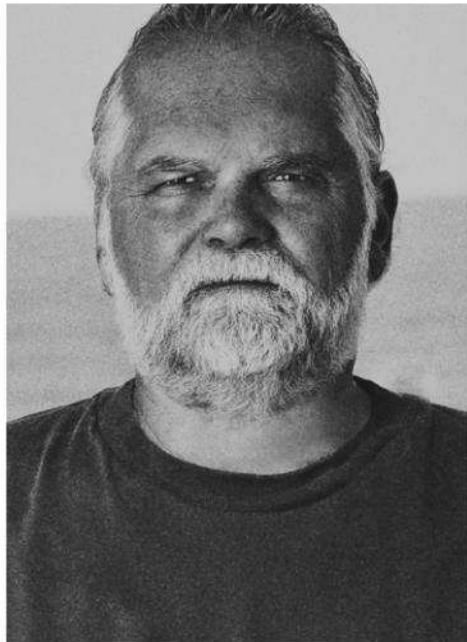

ANTHONY NESTE

Photographer Anthony Neste was born in New York, USA, but has been living in South Florida for over 20 years now. He began his career working in Film and TV production as an assistant to many advertising and commercial clients.

In the mid 70's, Anthony started working for sports magazines and in 1980 he shot his first assignment for Sports Illustrated, which began a steady 17 year working relationship with this brand on an incredible variety of sporting events across the United States of America.

Around 1990 Anthony got involved with HBO doing everything from publicity unit stills on movie sets to music concerts and comedy one night stands. Anthony has photographed countless championship boxing matches, Wimbledon and inside the NFL sporting events. In 1999 Anthony became the photographer for the Sopranos and produced some of the most memorable publicity photographs from that show during the first two years.

For over thirty years his artistic style continues to produce a body of work that is a unique blend of feeling, composition and color. Anthony is now the Director of Photography for the newest Fitness, entertainment and lifestyle magazine in Central Florida, 'FLORIDA FIT' Magazine. He also enjoys working on model shoots that help new models develop their portfolios and also experienced models that add variety to his overall creative style.

Anthony is one of the few 'authorized photographers' for VOLO Magazine in Florida and is always available to help models in their #VOLO ambitions.

"I discovered my love for photography when I was seven, this passion became my job ten years later. I love to work under natural light, working with nature, architecture, mixing feminine sensuality and fashion in order to produce eroticized yet gracious images.

I have collaborated with Vogue Italy on about four projects and I have been working with prestigious, charming and ground-breaking people, luxury hotels and companies.

When I discovered the location portrayed in these pictures, (Blue Mountains, NSW, Australia), I immediately felt the need to work on a photo shoot with my favorite Muse, so we spent a breathtaking day in this paradise trying to show the feminine beauty in contrast with such a dramatic extraordinary landscape."

"I am a Sydney based Model with a strong background in a variety of dancing styles. With the skills I have gained in the past, together with my passion for modelling and acting, I have been granted numerous opportunities since the commencement of my modelling career that I will continue to pour my heart into to see where it leads me in the future.

Styles that I have previously worked on range from Art nude, Underwater, Dance, Fashion and Lingerie to see where I fit in the market. I have started to submit work to expose myself through magazines and have been working on submissions for various publications. I thoroughly enjoy projects for Art Nude and Dance styles however my ultimate goal is to expand myself in the fashion industry so I am also researching and networking to find more commercial work to ensure that I am always stepping forward in my career.

Meeting and working with so many talented Photographers, Make up artists, Hair Stylists and Models gives me a great deal of pleasure and excitement as we are all working to achieve a specific vision and are all able to incorporate our own input. It inspires me with every single job that I am granted with, to achieve the goals that I have set for myself and I am always willing to expand my network and to keep all offers open to ensure I never miss an opportunity.

I am so very excited to see what the future holds for me."

JUUL DEVRIES

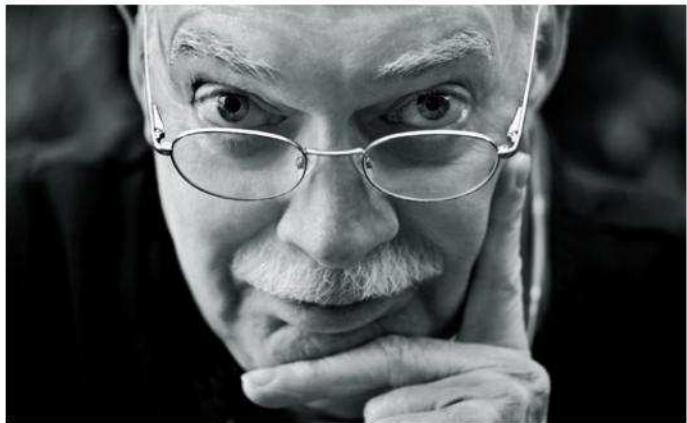

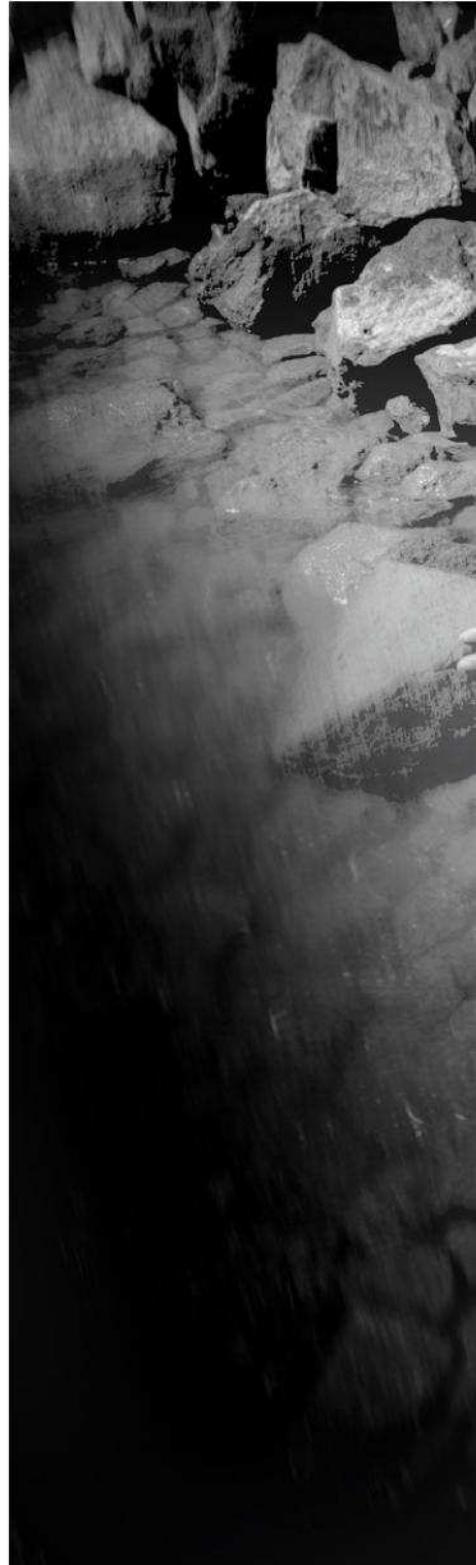

JUUL DEVRIES

JUUL is a hybrid photographer from the Netherlands. He's constantly looking for new ways to keep his work fresh and lively.

Sometimes he photographs models on locations, at other times he combines studio shots with backgrounds taken on location. He has gradually learned to master the technique of digitally colorising black and white photos by applying partial colour layers in Adobe Photoshop. The resulting creations occupy a specific and unique place in his work, and the strong bond he feels with his subjects is visible in the appeal of his photography.

A proportion of these people will be susceptible to his atmospheric colour images, others to his black and white. The mutual identification with one another's photographs then becomes a feast of recognition. We at VOLO chose his black and white creations to showcase this brilliant photographers creative senses.

Twilight's LONGEST DAY

MYCHALA SANDBERG by JASON KAMERATH

"Life begins and ends with the light and heat of our companion star, just as life begins and ends with the light and heat of our soul. We seek answers to explain life and only end up expanding upon the ever growing existence.

As artists we long to find expression and meaning in those brief moments- those moments that define who we are and allow us to glimpse into the nature of our life and the beauty of our death. Mychala is, and always will be, a joy to work with! She brings a life on set that no one else does! she is incredible at both working independently and taking direction and I would recommend her to anyone. Lastly, I have been following VOLO for some time. While I have always been wary of magazines that work in nudity, it always seems like they go the same route and begin emphasizing sex over art and beauty. VOLO is different, and a place I believe I can finally start calling my art home! I love the emphasis and meaning in the work portrayed in this publication and not only feel like my art epitomizes that message, but would be proud to have it displayed among such other wonderful work!"

"Creating good work nowadays seems almost too easy with all the advancements we have made in technology, but to create something breathtaking is a special challenge.

Taking an opportunity to help inspire other artists to reach a higher magnitude in their own artwork is something I demand of myself and the work I represent. Modeling for photography and commercial imagery are roles I truly enjoy being apart of; however, my soul belongs to the fine art community. I have ambitions of being a walking piece of art for a body painter or a live model for an installation piece, I just love being apart of something bigger.

I currently reside in Utah where the scenery and landscape are both gorgeous and often treacherous, I have so much modeling in unique crazy conditions I often forget the dangers involved sometimes. I hope to continue creating beautiful work, seeing new places, and being involved in the art world- whether as a centerpiece or just another face in the crowd, I will continue to create."

"Defining yourself, your work, and its meaning is often one of the most simple and difficult things an artist can do.

As an artist, I am often confronted by fans, models, family, and every day people about why I create what I create and the meaning behind it... To put it simply, I am chasing after a moment in time. That instant when you connect with the world and see it for what it truly could be for the very first time. I have been pursuing after that sense of wonder since the moment I could pick up a pencil, I constantly push myself to create imagery that stops people in their tracks... Nothing can really beat that first moment, that brief pause when your breath stops, your eyes lock, all the sound turns off. It is just you and this feeling that you're not alone... This artist get's you, they understand you, and in that instant the world feels bigger.

If I can make a difference in just one persons life... then the heartache and anguish that can often go into creating an image... It just all feels worth it, just knowing that for a split second the world stopped spinning for somebody, and for a split second neither of us was truly alone."

RK SMILEY

Ryan Smiley is a full time photographer based in Los Angeles. Ryan is a all out California boy, born and raised in Ventura County. He is one of the young and rising fashion and glamour photographers of LA and at 27 his career is at the verge of taking off.

He says "My interest in photography began at age 15 when I took a black and white film photography class in high school. The school could only afford the chemicals to expose black and white film and prints, but we had our own darkroom and that was more than any other school in the area. I spent hours in there growing my affection for art. Although I loved photography, I pursued graphic arts as a career originally before switching to digital photography as my main focus while I was attending college in Portland OR.

After moving back to California in 2011, it took 2 years of boring office jobs before I convinced myself to start shooting again. Originally I hated shooting portraits, my interest in photography usually formed around urban, architecture, and anything with hard lines and great composition. I knew how awkward it was for me to get in front of the camera and I didn't really know how to make others feel comfortable. I did however know if I truly wanted to make money in photography I should start shooting portraits. I started shooting good looking friends I had and started posting photos. Before you knew it I had people reaching out to me asking me to shoot their photos constantly and thus started my career.

These past few years have truly been about discovering what my niche and style is in portrait photography. I'm truly understanding my strengths in editing through my graphic designer experience and combining that with my love for black and white photos creates a style many people now recognize as my own. I'm a firm believer in playing just as hard as you work and now they are one in the same for me. It's truly a blessing and im just happy to share my images with the world."

"Hi VOLO fans, my name is Esha Marie, I used to be the Director of Content for VOLO Magazine, but now I have decided focus more on modeling and my own natural food products company, based out of the San Francisco Bay Area.

When I am not shooting you can find me at home relaxing in my yard with my dog and my two bunnies enjoying the beautiful California weather.

I have enjoyed being a model for the past 8 years and I can honestly say it has been an interesting experience. It has led me to some really great opportunities such as working for the worlds #1 art magazine. I do see myself continuing my modeling career for years to come. If you would like to follow me and my modeling you can find me on all social media platforms.

I hope you all have as much fun vieweing this set as much as we did while shooting it. This was just a fun set shot without any prep while we were chilling one summer afternoon, at the VOLO house."

Her work ethic is the most important thing we noted about Dacia during her first visit to the VOLO house. She went to the gym regularly, ate only healthy food and turned up at unearthly hours to shoot. When we asked her about her career plans she said

"I want to go as far as I can as a commercial model and I am ready to do whatever it takes to succeed. Success is not easy but I am not afraid to put in hard work and not get put down by failures or haters ;)"
